Abid Khan Sahib's Diary

An Inspection

A few minutes had passed when suddenly I heard the door connecting where Huzoor was staying with the lower level where I was staying open. I felt a sudden surge of butterflies in my heart.

I hurried out of my room to the lounge and looked up as Huzoor, so elegant and graceful, walked down the stairs towards me. Huzoor was wearing a white shalwar kameez and a white cloth topi (hat). He looked radiant and so pure and noble.

Huzoor kindly enquired how I was before inspecting the different rooms on the lower level. I was surprised to see how carefully Huzoor was checking each cupboard and drawer in the kitchen. 15 After a few minutes, Huzoor explained why he was doing such a thorough inspection. Huzoor said:

“From the Markaz (centre) we provided the Holland Jamaat with new crockery for here and I am just checking to see that it remains in good condition.”

I was taken aback. Huzoor has so many issues to deal with at a Jamaat level, whilst countless Ahmadis from across the world share their burdens with him on a daily basis.

Yet somehow, he still remembers things that an average person, who had nowhere near the same level of responsibilities or duties, would struggle to recall.

Simply, to ensure that the resources of the Jamaat were not being wasted, Huzoor carried out that initial inspection.
